LIEUTENANT POOLE HAS PROUD RECORD

Admiral Baird's Successor a Young Officer.

BOYISH IN APPEARANCE

State, War and Navy Post Is Looked Upon as One of Considerable Importance.

Lieut, John H. Poole, of the U. S. A. Engineer Corps, who was recently appointed superintendent of the State, War and Navy building, one of the largest government buildings in the world, to succeed Rear Admiral Baird, U. S. N. retired, is one of the youngest officers in the army. In the few years that he has been out of West Point he has had

Lieutenant Pecle was born in Michigan in October, 1878, being now only twenty-seven years of age. He looks to be scarcely more than twenty, being small in stature and boyish in appearance. He was appointed from Wisconsin as a cadet in the military academy at West Point in June, 1897, and in February, 1901, he was graduated from the engineer school of application and commissioned a second lieutening

Lieutenant Poole was first assigned to duty in the Engineer Corps of the army at Willett's Point, N. Y., and was transferred to Washington Barracks in 1901 where he remained till April, 1903. Feb ruary of that year he was raised to the grade of first Heutenant.

retirement last spring, but on request he remained on duty till a suitable suc-essor could be selected.

The office of superintendent of the State, War, and Navy Building is far more important than appears on the more important than appears on the face of it to the general public. This magnificent structure, which in architecture reminds one of the Russian winter palace, is exceeded in size by perhaps only one government building in the world—the Palace of Justice in Brussels. Two churches, however, are larger in square feet—St. Peters in Rome and St. Paul's in London. The expenditures in the square intendent's of enditures in the superintendent's of are several thousand dollars week

ALEXANDRIA NEWS NOTES

Everything points to one of the largest parades that has ever been seen in Alexandria, on the 22d of next month. At a meeting of the George Washington Birthday Association held last night the committee having charge of invitations reported that the governor of Virginia and his staff, the lieutenant governor of Virginia, and the various State officers, the senators and representatives from this district, and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, will take part in the parade.

part in the parade.

It was also announced that Vice President Fairbanks would visit Alexandria on the occasion and participate in the celebration of the birthday of George Washington. The committee also reported that they had hoped that the governor of Maryland and his staff would attend, and it was more than probable that they would.
